Mr. Peter Liesemer Passes Away in Didsbury

The death of Mr. G. P. Liesemer took place at his daughter's residence in Didsbury on Monday, July 1st

Mr. Liesemer has been ailing for a number of years and had to give up farming and move to town about four years ago when he took up his residence with his daughter Mrs.
H. Reiber, passing away at the ripe old age of 77 years and five days.

Deceased came from Mildmay, Ont., to Alberta in 1905, settling on a farm east of Didsbury. Besides his wife he leaves ten children to mourn his loss: Lydia, of Mild-may, Ont.; George, of Galt, Ont.;
William, of Kitchener, Ont.;
Henry, of Carstairs, Alta.; John, Peter, Ed., Con., Mrs. Diebel and Mrs. H. Reiber, all of Didsbury.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon. Services will be held at Mrs. Reiber's residence at 1.30 p.m. and at the Evangelical church at 2 p.m. and interment will take place at the Didsbury cemetery.

Another Addition to Dids- bury's List of Fine Residences

Another beautiful little home has been completed in Didsbury. The new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Eph.
Shantz in the north end which has been under way for some time was completed by E. Morrison, the contractor, last week. The building is bungalow style and contains 8 rooms with bath room. The building has been equipped with all the latest conveniences, such as dumb waiter, clothes shutters, hard and soft water, tanks, electrical fixtures and heating apparatus. Outside the finish is in red brick with peb-bled stucco finish under the cornices, the wood work being painted in a nice cream with light brown finish, the whole making a very pleasing appearance and reflecting great credit on the contractors. The house cost close to $6,000.

Westerdale Red Cross Garden Social

The Westerdale Red Cross garden party and auction sale which takes place on Wednesday, July 24th, at Mr. Kembry's fine home, is being looked forward to as one of the big events for which this district is noted, according to present indications the affair will be a success. The committee ask those who can to donate generous gifts of live stock, useful or fancy articles, cakes, pies, fruit or cream for the refreshment booth and sale. These donations will be gratefully accepted by any of the following: Messrs. Ed. Morgan, J. Morgan, B. Morphys J. B. Worthington, C. Fessenden, R. A. Kembry, J. T. Worthington, or any of the ladies of the district. The cause is the most worthy of any in existence today—help for the wounded.

Be generous and give all the help you can.

Potatoes in Bread-making
Dr. Campbell, of the British Ministry of Food, speaking of the result of experiments, says the addition of potatoes to flour improves the bread in every way. It gives it a better bloom, texture, and flavor, and the bread keeps well. On account of the shortage of wheat flour, it is the patriotic duty of everyone baking bread at home to use a certain quantity of potatoes.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS KEPT ON HAND

Mrs. Ernest E. Adkins, Bratton, Sask., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets with great success for four years and always keep a box on hand." Then she says of other mothers: "I have used the Tablets for their little ones they will use nothing else. Experience shows them that the Tablets are the ideal medicine. They are a mild laxative, thorough in action and never fail to relieve the minor ailments of little ones. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Montreal, Ont."

Wood from dogs is now being gathered in England. An association for this object having been formed. MOTHERS OF CANADA PREPARE FOR TROUBLE

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, and when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances. Many thousands in this section would testify as to the following:

St. Catharines, Ont.—"Over forty years ago I was restored to health by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was after medicine and doctors had failed to help me or give relief. I had, through overwork, become all run-down in health. I was weak and finally became a nervous wreck. The 'Prescription' was recommended to me, and at the time I started to take it I had not been able to do anything for over a year. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' as well. It took several bottles but I was completely restored to good health and since that time when I have felt the need of these medicines I have taken them and always with perfect satisfaction."—Mrs. Wm. Baker, 33 Page St.

Stratford, Ont.—"I was all run-down, weak, nervous. I also suffered with severe pains through my back. I was very miserable when a friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one bottle seemed to give renewed strength. It stopped the pain in my back, also helped my nervous condition. It is surely a good tonic for women."—Mrs. Florence Cullum, 100 Milton St.

Aerial Navigation Over Great Lakes

Detroit & Cleveland Co. Is Investigating Types of Passenger Aircraft

The Detroit & Cleveland Aerial Navigation Co., of which A. A. Schantz, a wealthy Detroit steamboat man, is the head, is now conducting investigations of aircraft to determine what will be safe and satisfactory for carrying passengers up and down the Great Lakes. Mr. Schantz says air transportation between Detroit and Cleveland and Detroit and Buffalo will be established as soon as a satisfactory type of craft can be found.

The Detroit & Cleveland Aerial Navigation Company was formed more than ten years ago, when it first seemed likely that air transportation would be put on a practicable basis. The officers, stockholders and directors of the company are the same as those of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company.

The emergency service that Mr. Schantz has planned, would be to carry passengers who must make unusually fast time between Detroit and Cleveland, or Detroit and Buffalo or New York. It is planned to have planes ready at a moment's notice to leave Detroit, Cleveland or Buffalo. In case the company is given mail contracts to handle, a regularly scheduled service will be established.

CORNS PEEL OFF, SHRIVEL RIGHT UP

It's a corker the way Putnam's Extractor goes after the kernel of a sore corn. You simply paint on a few drops of Putnam's and relief comes at once. The pain all goes, the corn shrivels up, and soon drops off. Wonderful—you bet it is. No other corn remedy can touch the quick, sure action you get with Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, cure like Putnam's, why pay more? When a quarter buys a dead-sure Get Putnam's today.

Must Stop Adding Bran and Shorts

All Flour in Future Must Bear the Designation "Government Standard Flour"

The food control board have instructed the mills that are re-grinding bran and adding it to the shorts, at once to discontinue the practice and keep the quality of shorts up to standard to meet the pig-feeding requirements. All flour in future must bear the designation "Government Standard Flour," and all quotations to the trade must be made on that designation. The mills will be allowed to put up graham flour in seven-pound paper bags, with the weight marked outside.

Mills are ordered, moreover, to encourage the purchase of graham flour and edible bran and are required to keep the same regularly in stock and recommend the adding of one pound of edible bran to every 4 or 5 pounds of government standard flour for the making of home-made bread.

An Oil That Is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

Constructing Long Range Guns

A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says a frontier correspondent asserts that the Germans are constructing long range guns of the type used in the bombardment of Paris at Serre-la-Beune, five miles southwest of Liege, in Belgium, and that they have requisitioned the Cockerill works for the purpose. The despatch says that all the workmen in the factory have refused to work and will be deported this month.

New Type of Vessel

Building Electrically Propelled Merchant Ship in England

The first electrically propelled merchant ship ever built in England and the largest electric vessel in the world is now undergoing its finishing touches at a British shipyard, and will soon start on its first voyage. The vessel is designed on a system in which a combination of steam and electricity is employed. The importance of this type of vessel under present conditions is its decreased coal consumption and larger cargo space.

A steel works manager named Joseph William Plack was fined $100 at Dudley, England, for having attempted to obtain several small sums by clocking more hours than he worked.

Eight nations in the European war have 17,000,000 fighting men.

Canada's Achievement

Canada Is Out to Do Its Share in Beating Germany

As for casualties, there have been 400,000 Canadians under fire so far and 100,000 have been killed, wounded and taken prisoner. Major-General McWhinney does not state how many of that number were killed in action or died of wounds, but a recent semi-official statement fixed it at about 30,000. In three years of the hardest kind of fighting only one in thirteen or so was killed.

This is Canada's military achievement—a splendid one, which overshadows any misgivings as to cost to the country in money. Up to March 31 there had been $835,000,000 spent and, as is noted, it is estimated that $500,000,000 will be needed in the year ending next March 31. That is a big jump from the $60,000,000 spent in 1914-15 and even from the $302,000,000 spent in 1917-18. But Canada is out to do its share in beating Germany, and the financial cost, great as it is in proportion to the country's wealth, is a mere incident to that great objective.—From the Buffalo Express.

Health for all the Family

MODERN, artificial methods of life make it absolutely necessary to use medicines occasionally to ensure the regular and healthful action of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are recognized as the most satisfactory regulating medicine for all the members of the family.

This medicine is not in any sense a cure-all, but its use occasionally, as required, ensures the activity of the liver, kidneys and bowels, the cleansing of the system, and the purifying of the blood.

For this reason you can depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to prevent and cure constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, kidney derangements and resulting painful ailments, such as backache, rheumatism and lumbago.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are so universally used that you can obtain them at any store where medicines are sold.

The Registration of Births Marriages and Deaths

The general public of this district does not seem to be aware of the fact that all births, marriages and deaths must be registered with the local registrar Mr. J. V. Berscht by those interested.

The registration of these events is a very important matter in life especially to the children and the government has provided for severe penalties for neglecting to register births especially which is as follows:

If any person required by this Act to report births, marriages, deaths or burials, refuses or wilfully neglects to do so within the time named, such person shall be liable on summary conviction thereof to a penalty of not less than one dollar or more than fifty dollars, and it shall be the duty of the district registrars to prosecute all such persons so neglecting or refusing to make the required reports within the time named; but nothing contained in this section shall prevent persons other than registrars from prosecuting defaulters.

Mr. Berscht is ready and willing at all times to help those responsible and when it is considered that a registration certificate is given at time of registration it can be seen what a lot of trouble may be avoided in later years through not having this important document.

CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES GOOD NEIGHBORS AND COMRADES

A LESSON TO THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD

Pacific Relationship Has Been Confirmed For All Time By The New Comradeship Born of a Common Will to Overthrow a Common Danger

One of America's best hopes for the ultimate effects of the world war is that every nation will learn to be a good neighbor and a sincere friend of international peace, says the Minneapolis Tribune, and proceeds:

What is meant by a good neighbor, speaking in terms of nations? The best way to answer the question is to cite a concrete illustration—the neighborliness of the United States and Canada. Each of these nations is a good next door friend to the other. Each in its dealings with the other relies on the virtue of arbitration, of conciliation, of appeal to reason rather than to the sword.

Between the United States and Canada runs an imaginary land and water boundary line of perhaps 3,500 miles. Throughout the length of this line there is neither gun nor fortress nor ship of war for offence or defence. Neither the great Republic with its 100,000,000 inhabitants nor the Dominion with its 7,500,000 carries a chip on its shoulder. Neither loses a wink of sleep with thoughts that the other may harbor sinister designs of some sort. They may quarrel as lawyers quarrel in court, but like lawyers they walk down the street together afterward in excellent good humor.

For a hundred years and more this line has been innocent of any suggestion of the force of war. As such it has been a wonderful token of mutual faith in international purpose and good intent. Attention has been called frequently since the present war began to this historic example of amity, but it is doubtful if the average American or Canadian citizen even yet appreciates fully what it means as a lesson to the nations of the world.

It is the fervent wish of the people of this country, as expressed by President Wilson and other men of vision and peaceful impulse that what has been true of the United States and Canada for a century shall become true as to all other nations of the earth. That, in a broad way, is one of the very great aims of our fighting. It has become, moreover, one of the great aims of the European allies. They are waging this war of world destiny to the end that it may never be necessary to wage another such. There is no better way to get that objective fixed in mind and to apprehend what it means than by thinking of this gunless, fortress, warshipless American-Canadian boundary line and of how these neighbors have gone about the settling of their differences for a hundred years.

The two have had their serious disputes about boundaries, commerce, fisheries and the like. In the adjustment of some of these the United States and Great Britain have reckoned with each other. In all of them the appeal to reason, to historic records, to the spirit of fair play, or to the policy of friendly give and take has been effective. This pacific relationship doubtless has been confirmed now for all time by the new comradeship born out of a common will to overthrow a common danger and to rear on its ruins a common good.

Canada sensed the danger and mobilized its power against it long before this country took that course. By so much will history give it the greater credit. The Dominion was a volunteer in aid of its mother country. It was not obliged under the mandate of its fundamental law to send its troops to Europe. It offered them before the war was a week old, acting out of a sense of self-conceived right and duty. It alone is bearing the heavy burden of expense for their services and maintenance at home and abroad. It is now conscripting its men, as it already had conscripted much of its wealth, that it may be an even better and stronger volunteer in the cause of democratic government and honorable internationalism.

A good neighbor, a loyal daughter and a fervent hater of Teutonic wrong and oppression—that is the Canada of today. If the common enemy should break through to Paris and then to London; if the Prussian will should be imposed by force on France and England; if these unthinkable things should come about, would the brave, free, proud people of Canada con. submissively under the iron rule of the Teuton, or would they merge their heroic wills even more firmly with those of the people of the United States and say:

"Here we are; come and take us if you dare!"

Germany would dare without a doubt, but she would be challenged, we surmise, by Canada pointing to the Monroe Doctrine and saying:

"We join our peace-loving, English-speaking, fair-playing, right-thinking neighbor behind that shield and we defy you, unafraid to do your worst."

Austrian Emperor's Letter

The Sincere Outpouring of a Distressed Soul

Plain internal evidence warrants the belief that the letter of the emperor of Austria-Hungary addressed to his brother-in-law to be laid before President Poincaré of France was the sincere outpouring of a distressed soul, and not an attempt, in collusion and understanding with Germany, to separate France from her allies. It was an autograph letter, its text has been published by the French government, its authenticity cannot be assailed. In this letter to "My Dear Sixtus," Emperor Charles expresses the hope that his "keen sympathy for France, joined to that which prevails in the whole monarchy, will forever avoid a return of the state of war, for which no responsibility can fall on me." To that very direct and terrible blow aimed at his own august person, his imperial majesty of Germany could never have given assent, not even for the purpose of tricking the allies and dividing them. The responsibility for bringing on the war may be the German kaiser's, it may be placed at the door of my predecessor on the throne, Francis Joseph, it is not mine—that is the plain import of emperor Charles' astonishing words. It has been often hinted that he personally was not an ardent advocate and supporter of the war into which Austria's act and Germany's set purpose plunged the world in 1914. It has never been supposed that he would thus frankly state his position by disclaiming responsibility.—From the New York Times.

The U-Boat Losses

Lowest Since the Beginning of Unrestricted Submarine Warfare

We are prepared, after a week's or fortnight's unusually low submarine record, for a sudden rise. This week's tale of 11 big British ships sunk is not so large as might have been anticipated after two weeks with six and four big ships. Taking the last three weeks, with a total of 21 big British ships, we find the figures to be the lowest since the beginning of unrestricted submarine warfare, with the exception of two similar periods—three weeks last November with a total of 19 ships and three weeks last January with a total of 18 ships.

We are now rounding out the first quarter of the second year of the ruthless U-boat war. If we go back for 13 weeks from today to the middle of January we get a total loss of 138 big British ships and 66 ships under 1,000 tons. Applying the formula of 4,500 tons to the big ships and 1,000 tons to the small ship—an average justified by the detailed tonnage statement from Sir Eric Geddes last month—we find that the tonnage loss for Great Britain, excluding marine accident, has been about 690,000 tons for the last three months. For marine accident we may add another 60,000 tons, as indicated in the Geddes report, which would give us a total of 750,000 tons for the quarter. The British losses last year by the quarter-year were 911,840, 1,361,870, 952,938, 782,889. The quarter just elapsed scores, therefore, a more favorable showing than the best three months of last year.—From the New York Evening Post.

Dangerous Woman Spy

Under Arrest in New York as a Dangerous Alien Enemy

Madame Marie K. de Victoria, believed by officers of the department of justice to be one of the most active of Germany's agents in this country for the last 15 months, was arrested at a fashionable Long Island hotel and brought to New York as a dangerous enemy alien. Miss Margaret Sullivan, her maid, was held as a material witness.

Federal authorities believe her real mission in the United States was to spread German propaganda among the Irish. She is reported to have been the chief aide to a lieutenant-commander of the German navy who reached here in December, 1916, and who has been working among Sinn Féin sympathizers, trying to get them to enlist in the British navy in order to plant bombs on warships.

The German naval officer disappeared a few days ago when he discovered that agents of the department of justice were trailing him.

In a letter to The London Press, Sidney Preston calls attention to moneys which have not been claimed for over 200 years and are recorded in an official advertisement that has just been published, inquiring for representatives of the shareholders in the West New Jersey Society, on whose stock no dividends have been paid since 1692.

This society is alleged to have been a company of adventurers formed in 1691 for the purpose of acquiring land in the colonies of British North America for trading purposes, and for the benefit of members thereof. The unclaimed balance of funds of the society now amounts to £241,879.

WORLD GAINING NEW INSIGHT INTO CHARACTER OF PRUSSIAN BEAST

HUN KULTUR IS SHOWN IN ALL ITS MALIGNITY

Civilization Learns More Clearly As the War Goes On, the Nature of the Thing Against Which She Has Pledged Her Manhood and Her Resources

It is charged by the Hun that in certain villages of the Louvain district in Belgium someone stole firewood that belonged to the German administration. Kultur found it impossible to discover the culprit. But, as The Cleveland Plain Dealer points out in a vigorous article calculated to inspire United States war effort, culture in power never permits an offence against itself to go unpunished. The Prussian governor of the Louvain district—his name is von Rubbert—decided to make the babies pay for the misdeed of the wood stealer. Von Rubbert's edict reduced the weekly sugar allowance of all nursing babies and invalids in the district. Thus is kultur avenged. Thus is German justice satisfied.

The Plain Dealer is right when it declares that no more infamous order was ever promulgated by the most savage condottiere of the Middle Ages. It is, perhaps, viler than the German methods of 1914, when whole villages were wiped out because of the fact or the suspicion that some villages had hidden firearms. These massacres were ordered in the midst of actual war, and—horribly inhuman as they were—might be partly attributable to the war frenzy of savage conquerors. Von Rubbert's persecution of the babies of Louvain is not a war measure. It is the deliberate malignity of the ruler of a pacified land.

Day by day the world gains new insight into the true make-up of the Prussian beast. Day by day civilization learns more clearly the character and nature of the Thing against which she has determinedly pledged her manhood and her resources. Von Rubbert is typical. What he has done any other Prussian would as readily do. It is only a matter of individual ingenuity, never influenced by individual humanity or decency. And The Plain Dealer asks: "Is there, in contemplation of von Rubbert, an awakening for a few more Americans who have not yet taken the war seriously enough?" Yes, and a few more Canadians, too!—Toronto Globe.

Exchange Prisoners

Russian and German Authorities Complete Arrangements for Transfer

The exchange of prisoners with Germany will soon begin.

A special commission charged with this work has arrived at Moscow, with Count von Mirbach, the new German ambassador to Russia. There are three million Russians in German hands, while one million Germans are held in Russia. The first to be exchanged will be women, boys under 16, and men over 50, and invalids. These will be followed by the military prisoners of war.

It is proposed to exchange 40,000 weekly at ten different points. A few exchanges of invalids have already been made. Most of the German prisoners are in Siberia. Their transportation is a grave problem because of railroad disorganization and water transportation is to be used exclusively to move the men.

The Drove Road

Foster spent the next day lounging about Edinburgh and looking out for Daly, whom he had expected to follow him. He, however, saw nothing of the man, and felt half disappointed, because he missed the excitement of the chase. It was too cold and wet to roam the streets with much enjoyment, there was no good play at the theatres, and he had seen picture palaces in Canada. Moreover, he had led an active life, and having nothing to do soon began to get irksome. It was curious that he had never felt bored at the Garth, even when he scarcely saw Alice during the day, but then the Garth had a peculiar charm. It was possible that Daly had gone back there, and he had been a fool to leave.

He was sitting in a corner of the hotel smoking room next morning when a stranger came up and sat down close by. The man, who lighted his pipe, had a quiet, thoughtful air. There was nothing about him to indicate his rank or occupation, and Foster wondered what he wanted.

"I hope you won't object to my asking if you're a Canadian?" he said.

"I don't know if I object or not. Anyhow, I'm English."

"But perhaps you have been in Canada," the stranger remarked politely.

Foster looked hard at him. "I haven't the pleasure of your acquaintance, but had better hint that you're wasting time if you're a friend of Daly's."

The stranger smiled and Foster saw that he had been in cautious. "I don't know the gentleman."

"Then what is your business?"

"If you insist on knowing, I'm connected with the police."

"Well," said Foster, "I'll pay you a compliment by stating that I wouldn't have imagined it; but I don't understand what the police have to do with me."

"It's very possible that they have nothing to do with you, but you can perhaps make that obvious. You signed the visitor's book John Foster, which doesn't quite correspond with the letters on your bag."

"Ah!" said Foster, "I begin to understand. No doubt, you noticed Lawrence Featherstone's name on the lock, and the Canadian Pacific label?"

"I did," the other admitted with humorous dryness.

Foster pondered. On the whole, he was glad he had registered in his proper name, though he had been tempted to give Featherstone's, in case Daly made inquiries. He had, however, decided that the latter probably thought they were both in Great Britain and would expect them to keep together. He did not doubt that his visitor belonged to the police, because an imposter would be easily found out.

"Featherstone's my partner and I took his baggage by mistake when we left a small Canadian town," he said, and added after a pause: "I expect the explanation sounds rather lame."

The other smiled, but Foster felt he was being subjected to a very close scrutiny. Although sensible of some annoyance, he felt inclined to like the man, who presently resumed: "You have been in Edinburgh before."

"For a day; I left in the evening and went to Newcastle."

"To Newcastle?" said the other thoughtfully. "Did you stay there?"

"I did not," said Foster, who thought frankness was best. "I went back to a country house in Northumberland that belongs to my partner's father. Lawrence Featherstone and I own a sawmill in Canada, but at present I'm taking a holiday in the Old Country."

He could not tell if the man was satisfied or not, for he asked abruptly: "Who is the Mr. Daly you mentioned?"

"I really don't know. It looks as if he were something of a blackmailer, and I must admit that I was trying to keep out of his way."

The man pondered for a minute, and then getting up gave Foster a card.

"Very well; I don't think I need keep you. You have my address if you should want to communicate with me."

He went out and Foster thought he had not handled the situation with much skill. It was a mistake to mention Daly and perhaps to state that he had been to Newcastle. He thought the man looked interested when he heard this. Then it was curious that he seemed to imagine Foster might want to write to him, but he began to see a possible reason for his being watched. Hulton had, no doubt, sent somebody over to inquire about the stolen bonds, and if the man had discovered anything important, he might have asked the help of the police. In this case, the movements of strangers from Canada would be noted. The trouble was that Foster could not be frank with the police, because Lawrence's secret must be carefully guarded.

In the afternoon he entered a fashionable tea room and sat for a time in a corner. The room was divided into quiet nooks by Moorish arches, from which lamps of an antique pattern hung by chains, and threw down a soft red glow. Heavy imitation Eastern curtains deadened the hum of voices and rattle of cups. The air was warm and scented, the light dim, and Foster, who had often camped in the snow, felt amused by the affectation of sensual luxury as he ate iced cakes and languidly watched the people. He could only see two or three men, one of whom he had noticed at the hotel and afterwards passed in the street. This was probably a coincidence, but it might have a meaning, and he moved back behind the arch that cut off his corner. When he next looked about, the fellow had gone. There were, however, a number of pretty, fashionably-dressed girls, and he remarked the warm color in their faces and the clearness of their voices. The Scottish capital seemed to be inhabited by handsome women.

He was, however, somewhat surprised when one came towards him and he recognized the girl he had met at Hawick station. He had hardly expected her to claim his acquaintance, as she obviously meant to do.

"You seem to be fond of Edinburgh," she remarked, sitting down at his table.

"It's an interesting city. I'm a stranger and ignorant of your etiquette; but would I be permitted to send for some cakes and tea?"

"I think not," she answered smiling. "For one thing, I must go in a minute."

Foster waited. The girl had good manners, and he thought it unlikely that she was willing to begin a flirtation with a man she did not know; besides she had stopped him sending for the tea. She was pretty and had a certain air of refinement, but it was a dainty prettiness that somehow harmonized with the exotic luxury of the room. This was a different thing from Alice Featherstone's rather stately beauty, which found an appropriate background in the dignified austerity of the Garth.

"Are you enjoying your stay here?" she resumed.

"Well," said Foster, "I begin to think I've had enough. The climate's not very cheerful, and the people seem suspicious about strangers."

Freedom of Labor and Capital

Prevention of Industrial Troubles During the War

The plan to make strikes or boycotts unlawful during the period of the war should not be represented as labor's or capital's victory. Concessions were made by both, resulting in what may be called a victory for the freedom of both.

The report submitted by the war labor conference, appointed by Secretary of Labor Wilson, outlines a program for the prevention of industrial troubles during the war, and contains provisions that should insure industrial peace when the war is over. Each side agrees to lay aside its most powerful weapon—the strike and the lockout—for the period of hostilities. Employers are not to discharge workers because of union membership, and workers are not to use coercive measures to induce persons to join their unions or compel employers to bargain with them. All these provisions might well become a permanent part of the new industrial order.—From Leslie's.

Will Prove Profitable to Country if Properly Handled

When a subsidy is given to a railroad it is looked upon as an investment from which the community expects to reap in due time a fair return.

Is not the same thing true of the assistance given to returned soldiers? Will not the day come, and before long, when these men will be on their feet, substantial citizens with a stake in the country and contributors in their degree to the national wealth and more or less cheerful payers of taxes? When this stage is reached will not the provinces or the Dominion be receiving back the money invested? Why, then, should there be a tendency to talk as if looking after the returned soldier were going to be a staggering burden? As a matter of fact, if properly handled, it ought to prove profitable for everybody concerned.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

But then, once in a while the high command coppers its own tips, as witness that hugely advertised offensive.

German strategy is to keep the allies guessing; but two can play at that game, and it is altogether likely that Hindenburg and Ludendorff themselves are doing a considerable amount of guessing as to General Foch's intentions just now.

PALE, LISTLESS GIRLS

Are in a Condition That May Lead to a Hopeless Decline

Perhaps you have noticed that your daughter in her "teens" has developed a fitful temper, is often restless and excitable without apparent cause. In that case remember that the march of years is leading her onto womanhood, and that at this time a great responsibility rests upon you as a mother. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness and depression, feels tired out after a little exertion; if she tells you of headaches and backaches, or pain in the side do not disregard these warnings. Your daughter needs the help that only new, rich blood can give for she is anemic—that is bloodless.

Should you notice any of these signs, lose no time, but procure for her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or her unhealthy girlhood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the impoverished blood of girls and women, and by so doing they repair the waste and prevent disease. They give to sickly, drooping girls health, brightness and charm, with color in the cheeks, sparkling eyes, a light step and high spirits. If your daughter shows any signs of anemia insist that she begins today to cure herself by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Miss Grace E. Haskins, 'atchford, Ont., says:—"It would be impossible for me to speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few years ago my health was such that my parents were seriously alarmed. I was pale, listless and constantly tired. I suffered much from headaches, and my trouble was aggravated by a bad cough. I tried several medicines, but to no avail, and my friends thought I was in a decline. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended and my mother got three boxes. They were the first medicine that really helped me, and a further supply was got and I continued taking them for several months until they completely cured me. Today, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am as healthy as any girl in Northern Ontario, and I am giving my experience that other girls may benefit by it."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What On, Indeed?

A party of sailors on leave were marching past a camp of interned Germans, and the Huns crowded to the wire fence to watch them pass by.

"Hallo, Jack!" cried one of them. "Where you come from?"

"North Sea, blockading Germany," was the reply from one of the sailors.

"Jah!" snarled another voice. "Long live Germany!"

"All right, Fritz," was the sailor's quick rejoinder; "but what on?"

Grand Old Man Makes Statement

MR. GEO. SOMERS FINDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS BEST

In His Eighty-second Year He Tells Why, After Trying Other Medicines, He Pins His Faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Barrie, Ont. (Special).—Mr. George Somers, Barrie's grand old man, now in his eighty-second year, has made a statement in regard to Dodd's Kidney Pills, Canada's grand old kidney remedy. "I have tried several kinds of kidney pills," Mr. Somers states. "I have arrived at the conclusion that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best so far; at least, they have given me the best satisfaction. I have taken them for nearly twenty-five years off and on as I have needed them."

Mr. Somers, who for forty years before retiring was a carriage worker, strained his back while gardening, and for over twenty years had been troubled, more or less, with his kidneys.

That he has pinned his faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills after trying the other kinds is considered a splendid tribute to the grand old Canadian kidney remedy. At his advanced age he is splendid evidence of the good work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing.

Got One in Your Home?

Capt. Anderson Dana, who has just got married at Plattsburg, is a grandson of the Journalist, Charles A. Dana, and in an interview he said: "My grandfather believed in marriage. He thought it steadied a man. I remember a story he used to tell. It's a story about a chap who asked a man:

"Have you ever heard anything about a machine for telling when a man is lying?"

"Sure," said the man.

"Have you ever seen one?" said the chap.

"Seen one?" said the man. "By gosh, I married one!"—Washington Star.

An Always Ready Pill.—To those of regular habit medicine is of little concern, but the great majority of men are not of regular habit. The worry and cares of business prevent it, and out of the irregularity of life comes dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles as a protest. The run-down system demands a corrective and there is none better than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple in their composition and can be taken by the most delicately constituted.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. BINZER, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binzer that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Coming to Opera House, July 15th to 16th, Charley Chaplin in "The Count" and "Jacky Sanuders."

One big event of the season is now nearly over—the Calgary fair. The next big provincial event is the Didsbury fair on Sept. 26th and 27th.

Mrs. Edwards, Miss E. Moyle and little sister Joyce, and Miss Edith Proctor, sister of Mrs. T. W. Cuncannon, all left on Tuesday for a trip to Ontario.

A large number of people from this district took advantage of the holiday to attend the Calgary fair. The weather during the day was ideal.

The sum of $21.48 was received by the Didsbury committee of the Red Triangle Fund from Neapolis. Proceeds from a dance in that district.

The Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Geo. Smith on July 11th at 2 p.m. The delegates report will be given. All are cordially invited to attend.

Constable Sick has a very patriotic American pony mare. She has had three colts in succession on July 4th, but this year she was a day early, the colt coming on July 3rd.

Mr. Ed. Reitzel who is working at Vulcan came up to spend the holidays at home. Ed. says that there are some good fields of grain down in that section but the south generally is not in good shape.

Miss N. Lantz and Miss A. E. Kerr, principals of the Didsbury high and public schools, left at the week end for Edmonton where they will act on the board of examiners for the recent examinations.

The Annual M. B. C. Camp Meeting will be held from July 5th to 15th at Didsbury on the old camp ground. Evangelist Rev. N. W. Rich, of Rocky Ford, Colo., has a message from God's Book for you—hear him.

The parents and pupils of the Devenport school district spent a very enjoyable day Friday last at the schoolhouse. As the teacher, Miss Williamson, is leaving here to make her home in Vancouver, she was presented with a very handsome present from the district. As she has been a very successful teacher and highly esteemed young lady, it is with regret that we see her leave us.

Rosebud News

We have had some showers of late which has helped the grain some but timothy hay will be a very short crop.

The Rosebud, Mowers and Colburn schools joined together and held their school picnic one and a quarter miles East of Mowers schoolhouse. The weather was threatening but a good crowd was present and a splendid time is reported.

Mrs. Sylvester Davis and niece, Helen Leich, attended the Red Cross sewing at the Earnest St. Clair home last Thursday.
